Sostram Corporation names Tim Zech chief operating officer

(Roswell, GA) Tim Zech has been promoted to chief operating officer of the Sostram Corporation. The announcement comes on the heels of the company's introduction of MOLD-RAM® fungicide.

Zech, who assumed general manager responsibilities for Sostram in July 2005, has been affiliated with parent company Sipcam Agro USA, Inc. since 1996. In his new position, he will continue to manage the Sostram U.S. and international industrial biocide business and will oversee ongoing development and marketing of the company's mold prevention, remediation and environmental care products.

"We consider mold management a key Sostram growth area," Sipcam Agro USA President and Chief Operating Officer Lynn Brookhouser said. "Tim has dedicated himself to that market, as well as our biocide business, and will continue to lead the charge in his new position."

Prior to his Sostram affiliation, Zech held sales, marketing and business manager positions within the agricultural and turf and ornamental divisions of Sipcam Agro USA. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in agriculture from the University of Georgia.

The Sostram Corporation is a subsidiary of Sipcam Agro USA, Inc., one of an international group of companies owned by the Sipcam Oxon Group in Milan, Italy. The Sipcam Oxon Group specializes in the production of chemical intermediates and plant protection products.
